

Since 1987, Paris Jewellers remains a Canadian story, grounded and real. From our beginning, we have been family-owned and –operated, and from one generation to the next, have passed down an old-world work ethic, family values and an unwavering commitment to quality. We began as a single store; today we are 23, and remain dedicated to the same goal we had on our first day: to ensure every customer is happy with every purchase.

We are currently looking for a friendly, energetic and dedicated individual to fill the role of Store Manager Brand Ambassador with our Peter Pond Shopping Centre, Fort McMurray, AB team.

What is a Brand Ambassador?

The role of a Paris Jewellers Brand Ambassador is to be a representative and promoter of the Company, by creating happy and memorable customer experiences. This is achieved by understanding and striving for the Company’s mission statement and core values, by adhering to the sales standards and by working together as a team to ensure an exceptional customer experience.

A Brand Ambassador is results orientated. Consistently achieving or exceeding individual and team sales goals by following the Company’s sales standards, continually developing new customer relationships to build clientele base, completing sales reports, and striving to meet all performance standards.

A Brand Ambassador strives to maintain the company standards. This includes but is not limited to: ensuring all operational processes are completed, visual merchandising, stock and inventory control, store appearance and cleanliness, setting up sales and promotions according marketing guidelines, sustaining a high level of safety and security to protect customers, colleagues and Company assets, and adhering to the Code of Conduct to foster positive working environment.

A Brand Ambassador shows gratitude and treats their team members and customers with respect and kindness, is always ready to celebrate the success of others and is open to change and growth for the betterment of the Company.

What we offer:

At Paris Jewellers, we offer our Brand Ambassadors a culture, based on old world work ethics, and a commitment to be better than we were yesterday. We believe in celebrating every customer story and every employee win, recognizing those who go the extra mile, and maintaining a culture of gratitude. In addition we offer;

- Competitive wages
- Competitive commission structures, earning commission on every single item sold
- Comprehensive training program that includes sales, product knowledge and brand training tailored exclusively for Paris Jewellers
- Opportunities for advancement and relocation
- Monthly incentives
- Employee discounts
- You will always be a name and not a number

What we look for:

- Experience in a customer focused role is preferred
- Experience in jewellery is considered an asset but is not required
- Mature and positive attitude
- Professional appearance and presentation
- Proficiency in English
- Able to adapt to immediate or unforeseen challenges
- Strong work ethic
- Natural ability to develop relationships
- Has a high standard of personal accountability
- Has a drive to achieve goals and targets
- Strong interpersonal and communication skills
- Ability to stand for long period of time
- Willingness to work evenings, weekends and holidays
